April 2013's monthly index of economic activity, IMACEC.

According to preliminary information, in April the Imacec rose 4.4% over the same month last year. The seasonally-adjusted series increased 0.2% with respect to the previous month, and 3.7% compared with the same month a year before. The month came with two more working days than did April 2012.

The result reflected, mainly, growth in trade activity.
