May 2014's monthly index of economic activity, IMACEC.

According to preliminary information, last May the IMACEC rose 2.3% over the same month a year before. The seasonally-adjusted series increased 0.6% with respect to the previous month, and 2.7% in twelve months. The month came with one less working day than May 2013.

The result reflected, mainly, an increase in mining activity, which was partly offset by a drop in wholesale trade.
